BY ORDER OF THE BOARD

Kind regards,

Geta Striggner-Quartey (Mrs)
Board Secretary

CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT TO MFUND SHAREHOLDERS

Dear Valued Shareholders,

It is with great pleasure that I welcome you all to the 6th annual general meeting of the Databank Money Market Fund (MFUND). My colleague Board Members and all of us at Databank look forward to these meetings with you, our cherished shareholders. It is time once again, for us to give account of our stewardship as we reflect on the performance of your Fund during the past year. We did meet for an extraordinary general meeting in November 2009 at which we all agreed on important structural changes to create a more robust fund. All of the Board and staff of Databank wish to thank you again for your active participation.

Before focusing on your Fund's performance, permit me to highlight the key features of the economic environment in which MFUND operated during the year 2009.

Ghana's Economy Slows Down

Similar to trends at the global level, economic activity in Ghana slowed down in 2009, due to the tight fiscal (expenditure and revenue) and monetary (interest rate and inflation) policies adopted by the Government and the Central Bank during the period. Consequently GDP grew at a modest 4.7% [2008: 7.3%]. Even though the slowdown remains worrisome, the austere measures helped to restore macro-economic stability.

Gross international reserves improved to $3.2b (Dec-09) from $2b (Dec-08). The reserves position as at the end of 2009 amounted to 3 months of import cover (the comparable outturn for the same period in 2008 was 2.1 months of import cover). The country's overall balance of payments account recorded a surplus of $1.2b (2008: A deficit of $0.9b). The improvement in the economy's external position was in line with improvements in terms of trade (as crude prices declined, both gold and cocoa increased).

Inflation peaked at 20.7% in June 2009 before decelerating to 15.97% in December 2009, due to lower food and energy prices. Year-on-year inflation has since declined further to 10.68% as at May, 2010. The Cedi also lost its ground against the three major currencies. It, however, managed to recoup some of its losses during the last quarter of the year. By year end 2009, the Cedi had lost 15.33% to the Dollar, 23.91% to the Pound and 17.33% to the Euro. The Cedi has been fairly stable this year and by May 31, it had appreciated by only 1.01% to the Dollar, 12.30% to the Pound and 18.40% to the Euro.

Yields on fixed income instruments such as Government Treasury Bills were attractive in 2009, maintaining rates within the bracket of 24% and 25%. Consequently the benchmark 91-day Treasury Bill ended the year at 22.53%, but has since fallen further to 12.91% as at May 31, 2010.

Annualized Yield up at 28.06%

I am glad to report that the return on Mfund was impressive given the general decline in the yields of the Government Treasury Bills and other short-term instruments. The Databank Mfund made an annualized yield of 28.06% in 2009 as against an average rate of 25.39% for the 91-day Treasury Bill and between 3% and 7% for bank savings. Due to improvement in the general economy and the continuing stability of general price levels, interest rates have generally been on a downward trend. Inflation dropped from a 19.86% in January 2009 to 15.97% in December 2009. Your Fund (Mfund) has thus continued to outperform, on a historical basis, comparable investment instruments such as the 91-day Treasury Bill and bank savings products since its inception in 2004.

'AUM' Up By 80%

It is also refreshing to note that the value of the Assets Under Management (AUM) in Mfund increased by 80% from GH¢17.2m at the end of 2008 to GH¢31m in 2009. The total number of shareholders also increased by 41% from 22,169 to 31,233 during the period under review.

Innovations

In line with our policy of continuous innovation to ensure Mfund's continual dominance, management continued to spearhead innovations in product development, distribution and technology. The key highlights of new developments initiated in 2009 include the following:

Product Innovation:

- A proposal was submitted to shareholders at an Extraordinary Annual General Meeting in November, 2009 regarding the introduction of share classes in Mfund (Classes A and B). The proposed changes are aimed at allowing investments in the Fund sufficient time to work for you, our shareholders.
- Shareholders approved this proposal and the Board has since submitted the document to the Security and Exchange Commission (SEC) for approval.

Distribution & IT Innovations:

- Management has initiated talks with Standard Chartered Bank (19 branches) and Ecobank (52 branches) to enable Mfund shareholders top-up their investments across all their branch networks in Ghana (in addition to a combined 160 branches of Barclays, Zenith, Intercontinental and United Bank for Africa).

- Negotiations are also far advanced to add on 'Txt n Pay' and Zain's ZAP to our existing arrangement with MTN's Mobile Money and other 'mCommerce' operators – 'mCommerce' simply refers to using your mobile phone for your everyday activities or business transactions or specifically using your mobile phone to top-up your investment account and to check your account balances.
- We have also concluded an agreement with Ezwich to enable shareholders use that platform to top-up your investment accounts.
- We are near the completion of a state-of-the-art IT platform, nicknamed DINA – Databank Information Network Architecture. This new architecture has a better online facility which will replace the current Balance Checker application that only permitted investors to see their account balances. An exciting feature of this new technology is that it will enable clients to view a full statement of accounts (such as purchases, sales and balances) on-line.
- We will soon outdoor a new and improved website that will enable clients to communicate with us via web chat – That is real time chat with Databank Retail Services and other staff on-line.

The Future...

As we focus our attention on our expectations for this year and the future, we are confident in the Lord that the future is bright. There is a renewed hope in the country's financial markets in 2010 as currency risk improves. It is likely that the country's terms of trade position will remain stable in 2010. Total public expenditure is expected to increase by 40% to GH¢12.13 billion in 2010 (2009: GH¢8.66 billion). It is therefore likely that fiscal policy will be expansionary over the medium- term as the Government seeks to honour its electoral pledges and push growth above 8%.

We expect the Policy Rate and interest rates to decline in line with lower inflationary expectation. Overall, the production of crude oil in commercial quantities by the last quarter of this year will have a significant impact on the country's trade account.

The Governor of the Bank of Ghana has signalled that the Central Bank intends to reduce the Policy Rate to support the expansionary fiscal stance of the Government. We expect GDP to be above 6% in 2010, based on agriculture, oil and gas, as well as the service sectors' performance. In addition, we expect the Cedi to continue to firm up against major international currencies due largely to renewed investor interest on the stock market and Foreign Direct Investment on the back of the oil and gas industry, and strong export prices.

Databank is 20 Years!

This year, incidentally, marks 20 years of Databank's existence and leadership in investment banking and asset management in Ghana and Africa. We have not travelled an easy road, but we are confident in the Lord that we will get to our destination together with all our cherished shareholders. I will therefore like to take this opportunity to thank you all on behalf of the staff and management of Databank and to invite you to celebrate 20 years of God's goodness and your loyalty. Our renewed and solemn commitment to you is to ensure that your "Databank Experience" is one in which we honour you and serve you with humility and integrity. We will also work with diligence and excellence to ensure that we create wealth for you and generations to come.

No matter the amount, we look to be faithful in little just as we will be in much; as the Bible in Luke 16:10 says "He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much; and he that is unjust in the least is unjust also in much". In Mfund, we do not despise little beginnings even as Databank started with little two decades ago. We implore you to tell this Databank story to your family, friends and neighbours so they also join the Databank family. This is especially important as you make your decisions individually and for your organizations so that Databank manages your pension funds for you.

On behalf of the Board of Directors, I will like to extend my sincere appreciation to the Fund Manager and staff of Databank for their untiring efforts throughout the year; and also to all of you, our shareholders - Without you we will have no success story to tell. We are grateful to you all for the confidence you have placed in us throughout the good and the bad times. We look forward to diligently walking the road "less travelled" with you in the coming 20 years.

Thank you very much and God bless you!

PORTFOLIO AT A GLANCE AS AT DECEMBER 31, 2009

Comparative Portfolio at a Glance (December 2009)

FUND MANAGER'S REPORT

Performance Review

'He has made everything beautiful in its time'

(ECC 3:11)

The Databank Money Market Fund achieved its highest yield since inception of 28.06% for year ending December 2009. This compares favorably with bank savings rates of between 3% and 7%. The average 91 day Treasury Bill rate for 2009 was 25.39%. The shareholder base for the period under review increased by 41% over the previous period in 2008 [2009: 31,233 and 2008: 22,169]. The share price increased from GH¢0.1932 at close of 2008 to GH¢0.2477 in December 2009.

Economic/Market Review

Gross Domestic Product (GDP) growth was lower at 4.7% in 2009 from 7.3% in 2008. The decline in GDP growth was on the back of tight fiscal and monetary policies which led to lax economic activity during the period. The industry and service sectors felt the brunt of the weak consumption and generally high interest rates that were associated with the period.

Monetary policy was tight in 2009 and was aimed at controlling price build-ups in the economy. The Bank of Ghana increased its Policy Rate for most part of 2009, with the rate closing the period at 18% compared to 17% in 2008. In line with lower government borrowing, treasury yields declined marginally in 2009. The yield on the 91-day and 2-year fixed rate declined to 25.39% (from 26.67%) and 32.10% (from 34.35%) in 2009. Average lending rates for commercial banks also fell marginally to 32.1% in 2009 from 34.35% in 2008.

Price increases for consumer goods were moderate in 2009 than in 2008. Year on year inflation fell from 18.31% in December, 2008 to 15.97% in December, 2009. The favourable outturn in inflation was induced mainly by weak consumer demand. Although the domestic currency depreciated sharply against all the three major currencies in 2009, it recovered some of its losses in the last quarter. As a result, the depreciation of the Cedi against the US Dollar closed 2009 favorably at 15.15% compared to 20.03% in 2008.

Portfolio Review

Asset Mix

MFund's portfolio is structured around four money market instruments namely; Certificates of Deposit, Treasury Bills, Commercial Papers and Cash Equivalents. The distribution is as follows; Certificates of Deposit - (57%), Treasury Bills- (33%), Commercial Papers- (3%) and Cash Equivalents- (7%). Compared to the Fund's structure in the previous year, our exposure to Commercial Paper has reduced drastically (from 21% to 4%), whereas, our holdings in Certificates of Deposit and Treasury Bills have increased in line with risk management measures instituted.

Comparative Portfolio at a Glance (December 2009)

Growth

The fund witnessed a significant 80% year on year growth in value (Dec 2008– Dec 2009) from GH¢17.2 million to GH¢ 31 million. The growth in the Fund's size was driven by improved returns and net inflows of GH¢8m. Deposits from 2008 to 2009 increased by 63% from GH¢16million to GH¢26million, while withdrawals in 2008 to 2009 increased by 6% from GH¢16.6million to GH¢17.6million.

Shareholders

The total number of shareholders as at December 2009 was 31,233. For the 12 months of 2009, 11,875 new shareholders joined the Fund translating into a monthly average of 989 compared to 6,582 shareholders and a monthly average of 584 in 2008. The surge in the number of new shareholders can be partly attributed to the high annualized yields (28.06%) compared to the 91-Day interest rate (25.86%) as well as the media campaign which run during the year 2009.

Outlook and Investment for 2010

There have been considerable improvements in macroeconomic indicators since Q4-2009 which should support higher GDP growth at 6.3% in 2010.

It is likely that interest rates will decline (in line with improvements in public sector borrowing requirements), while inflation and currency risk will be minimal over the next 12 months. Inflation will decline due to improvements in domestic food production, while improvements in gross international reserves will also enhance currency stability. Government policy within the next two years will be targeted at stimulating growth and creating jobs. There are indications that the focus of monetary policy will shift somewhat from inflation targeting to growth which should improve credit advancement to household and the private sector over the medium term. Nevertheless, the extent to which monetary authorities can accommodate fiscal expansion will depend on the country's inflation dynamics. Our expectation is that, inflation will close 2010 within the range of 11.5% and 12.5%.

There is a renewed hope in the country's financial market in 2010 as currency risk improves and the credibility of government policy is enhanced. The recent issuing of 3-year treasury notes in February 2010 and March 2010 (which were oversubscribed with significant foreign participation) supports this assertion.

We expect the yield on the 91-day bill to fall below 13% by the end of December 2010, while the average base rate for commercial banks is likely to dip marginally to 26% during the period.

Fund Strategy

Our investment strategy therefore is to place more funds in 182 day and 1 year instruments as compared to 91 day holdings to enable the Fund to lock in at current comparable higher rates. The Fund will embark on an 'invest your savings' advertising campaign this year to attract new investors into the Fund. We expect to improve on the performance of the Fund by increasing inflows and investing in higher yielding instruments so as to impact positively on the growth and yield of MFund.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The following principal accounting policies have been consistently applied during the year in accounting for items that are considered material in the preparation of the Fund's financial statements.

The financial statements are presented in Ghanaian Cedis.

i. Income Recognition

Interest income is recognized on the accrual basis of accounting. Interest income comprises interest on Treasury Bills, Commercial Papers and Certificates of Deposit. The recognition of interest ceases when the payment of interest or principal is in doubt. Thereafter, interest is included in income only when it is received.

Commissions and fees are credited to income when earned.

ii. Expenses

Expenses are recognized when incurred, without regard to receipt or payment of cash.

iii. Investments

Valuation of the fund is determined by the amortized cost method. This involves the valuing of a debt obligation in reference to its cost rather than market value. In this regard, short-term securities having maturity of ninety-one days or less are valued at amortized cost.

iv. Foreign Currency

Transactions in foreign currencies during the period are converted into Cedis at rates ruling at the transaction dates. Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into Cedis at exchange rates ruling at the financial year-end. The gains and losses resulting from foreign exchange rates are dealt with in arriving at the period's operating profit.

v. Commercial Paper

Commercial Paper is stated in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities at the principal amount and interest less provision for doubtful debts. Provisions against commercial paper are based on an appraisal of the portfolio and are made having regard to specific risks. There is no provision for doubtful debts.

vi. Certificates of Deposit

Certificates of Deposit are stated in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities at the principal amount and interest less provision for doubtful debts. Provisions against Certificates of Deposit are made having regard to specific risks. There is no provision for doubtful debts.
